SPOTLIGHT ON AUSSIE BATHURST SUPERCARS THE GOLDEN ERA 1963 to 1972 by Tony Davis and Andrew Quinn

Some of the most brutally powerful production cars of all time were designed and produced in Australia during the late 1960s and early 1970s, from the Holden S4 of 1963 to the Chrysler Charger E49 of 1972. This succession of Australian 'supercars' was the result of a quirk in the rules of the country's best-known car race, the Bathurst 500. Included in this fact filled book are specifications and the Bathurst race record of each model. This book should be in the collection of every fan of the annual Bathurst marathon.
